INDEX TO VOLUME VII

ABSTRACTS:

Bainbridge, William Seaman, A study of certain bands in the right upper abdominal quadrant, 321.

Barber, William Howard, Gastric hypermotility associated with gall-bladder disease, 170.

Beck, Harvey G., Comparative study of gastric motility by test meal and barium retention, 574.

Bensaude and Rivet, Syphilis of the stomach, 620.

Braasch, W. F., Renal fluoroscopy at the operating table, 369.

Carman, R. D., Renal fluoroscopy at the operating table, 369.

The operability of cancer of the stomach as determined by the roentgen ray, 122.

Carrera, Jose Luis, A pathological study of the lungs in 152 cases of syphilis, 416.

Chambers, H., Experimental studies with small doses of x-rays, 120.

Cofield, Robert B., Some difficulties in the diagnosis of osteosarcoma, 618.

Cohn, Alfred E., An investigation of the size of the heart in soldiers by the teleroentgen method, 368.

Collin, E., Radiotherapy in Sweden, 619.

Cordier, Victor, Radiotherapy of the malarial spleen, 622.

Cramer, I. H., Roentgenological determination of pulmonary tuberculosis, 273.

Crosbie, Arthur H., Diagnosis and treatment of tuberculosis of the genito-urinary tract, 622.

Crouse, Hugh, Chronic duodenal dilatation, its concomitant and sequential pathology, 322.

Dandy, Walter E., Localization of elimination of cerebral tumors by ventriculography, 466.

De Niord, Hollis H., and Richard N., Effect of roentgen rays on the metabolism of cancer patients, 520.

Diemer, F. E., Roentgenological determination of pulmonary tuberculosis, 273.

Dimier et Bergonie, Guinea worm revealed by x-rays, 276.

Elding, A very rare case of non-malignant tumor of the lungs, 323.

Espinola, Rafael, Radiotherapy in surgical tuberculosis of children, 275.

Evans, John, Comparative study of gastric motility, 574.

Firmin-Cuthbert, Case of appendix containing 36 shot, followed by signs of malignant endocarditis, 419.

Frank, Louis, Congenital diaphragmatic hernia, 469.

Fussell, M. H., A roentgen ray sign of perinephritis abscess, 174.

Gage, Harold C., Radiographs direct on bromide paper and their place in war economy, 121.

George, Arial W., A method for more accurate study of injuries to the atlas and axis, 319.

Gewin, Wm. C., Use of radium in treatment of metrorrhagia and menorrhagia, 518.

Honeij, James A., Cavity formation and annular pleural shadows in pulmonary tuberculosis, 463.

Iser, Solomon, The roentgen diagnosis of subphrenic abscess, 465.

Janeway, Henry H., The treatment of malignant tumors of the thymus gland by radium, 419.

Japiot, Fracture of scaphoid without displacement, 324.

Abstracts—Continued

Jordan, Arthur, Eighteen months' experience with radium, 173.

Judd, E. S., The results of surgical treatment of exophthalmic goiter, 573.

Kaye, G. W. C., Examination of air craft timber by x-rays, 321.

Kelly, Howard A., Radium therapy, 177.

Key und Akerlund, Calcified aneurysm of the renal artery, 276.

Knox, Robert, Examination of liver, gall-bladder and bile ducts, 178.

Knox, R., The examination of air craft timber by x-rays, 321.

Knudson,, Arthur, Metabolism in leukemia and cancer during radium treatment, 321.

Lagarenne and Guilleminot, Pharyngo-esophageal diverticula, or pulsion diverticula of Zeuker, 470.

Langmead, Notes of a case of esophagectasis in an infant, with radiograms, 522.

McKennan, Roentgen ray findings in epilepsy, 620.

Meyer, William H., Roentgen therapy in gynecology, 177.

Mitchell, William, Splenic calculi, 123.

Molyneux, Echlin S., Radium in the treatment of tuberculous adenitis, 124.

Mottram, J. C., Experimental studies with small doses of x-rays, 120.

Neill, William, Jr., Radium therapy, 177.

Ordway, Thomas, Metabolism in leukemia and cancer during radium treatment, 321.

Orndorff, B. H., Pneumoperitoneum in x-ray diagnosis, 173.

Pancoast, Henry K., A roentgen ray sign of perinephritic abscess, 174.

Roentgen ray studies of the functional alterations of the diaphragm, 322.

Petit de la Villeon, The extraction of intrathoracic projectiles, 227.

Phemister, D B., The recognition of dead bone based on pathological and x-ray studies, 571

Pickerel, Extensive lesions of anthracosis and pneumoconiosis with absence of physical signs, 522.

Pirie, A. Howard, The present status of radiotherapy, 171.

Ponzio, M., A radiological study of the evolution of war injuries of bone, 623.

Prime, Frederic, Lethal dose of roentgen rays for cancer cells, 170.

Ransohoff, J. Louis, Late results in the radium treatment of cancer of the uterus, 223.

Riggs, Theodore F., Diaphragmatic hernia, 369.

Roberts, Dudley, Certain limitations of roentgen ray diagnosis of gastro-intestinal diseases, 175.

Russ, S., Experimental studies with small doses of x-rays, 120.

Schanz, Robert F., Iodid and bromid pastes as used in roentgenography, 174.

Schreiner, Bernard F., Effect of roentgen rays on metabolism of cancer, 520.

Schwarz, Contrast-meal calculi after x-ray investigation of large intestine, 324.

Scott, Gladwys M., Experimental studies with small doses of x-rays, 120.

Simmons, Channing C., the treatment of carcinoma of the skin with radium. Results of cases treated at the Collis P. Huntington Memorial Hospital, 64.

Abstracts—Continued
Slesinger, E. G., Osteitis fibrosa, 65.
Stewart, George David, Gastric hypermotility associated with gall-bladder disease, 170.
Subbel, Hydatid cyst of the lung discovered by radiography, 574.
Tait, Jean, Metabolism in leukemia and cancer during radium treatment, 321.
Thompson, Harold B., Osteomyelitis and its classification radiographically, 322.
Tyler, A. F., Syphilis of the great vessels, 176.
Vaccarezza, Raul F., Las intoxicaciones por el subnitrato de bismuto, 227.
Wilkins, H. F., The use of radium in the treatment of metrorrhagia and menorrhagia, 518.
Wise, Fred, Roentgen ray treatment of widespread and generalized diseases of the skin, 521.
Wood, Francis Carter, Lethal dose of roentgen rays for cancer cells, 170.
Adeno-carcinoma of the stomach, 602.
Action of Buried Tubes of Radium Emanation upon Normal and Neoplastic Tissues, Halsey J. Bagg, 536.
Aikins, W. H. B., Radium in toxic goiter, 404.
Air craft timber examined by x-rays, Abstract, 321.
Alveolar Infections of Dental Origin as Seen by the Roentgenologist, H. W. Dachtler, 302.
Aneurysm, Calcified, of the renal artery, Abstract, 276.
Aneurysms, thoracic, 90.
Angiomata, Treatment with radium, 337.
Annular pleural shadows in pulmonary tuberculosis, Abstract, 463.
Anomalous Relation of Roentgenology to Medical Practice, W. Warner Watkins, 531.
Anthracosis and pneumoconiosis, extensive lesions of, Abstract, 522.
Appendix containing 36 shots, Abstract, 419.
Artificial penumo-peritoneum, duration of, 502.
Ashbury, Helen, X-Ray (poem).
Aviators' Heart, Roentgen Ray Studies under Conditions Simulating High Altitudes, Leon T. Le Wald and Guy H. Turrell, 67.

Bagg, Halsey J., The action of buried tubes of radium emanation upon normal and neoplastic tissues, 536.
Bands in the right upper abdominal quadrant, A study of, Abstract, 321.
Béclère, A., The radiotherapy of uterine fibromyomata. Results, mode of action and indications, based on the study of 400 personal observations, 30.
Belden, Webster W., Hernia of the diaphragm with a portion of the stomach in the thoracic cavity, 250.
Biological Reaction of Carcinoma Cells Produced by Radium Rays. The Technique of Radium Therapy in Gynecology, Henry Schmitz, 52.
Bissell, Frank S., The Heart Symposium, Editorial, 62.
Boggs, Russell H., Lethal and erythema dosage of radium in malignancy, 398.
Radium in the treatment of carcinoma of the cervix and uterus, 202.
Bonney, T. C., Congenital absence of middle joint of little finger, 336.
Bony Changes in the Feet Following Fractures of the Vertebrae, Lloyd Bryan, 125.
Book Reviews:
Los Rayos X en el Diagnostico de las Enfermedades del Estomago, Doctors José Gonzalez Campo and José Gonzalez-Campo de Cos., James T. Case, 63.
Medical Clinics of North America, Chicago number, 218.
Bowen, Charles F., Fractures of the bones of the face, 350.
Bowen developing tank, Useful attachment to, 345.
Bowing, H. H., Topical applications of radium, 582.
Braasch, W. F., Roentgen examination of the urinary tract made opaque, 584.
Brown, Lawrason, The occurrence of intestinal tuberculosis in patients with pulmonary tuberculosis at the Trudeau Sanatorium, 395.
Bryan, Lloyd, Bony changes in the feet following fracture of the vertebrae, 125.
Secondary hypertrophic osteo-arthropathy with metastatic sarcoma of the lung, 286.
Bucky Diaphragm Principle Applied to Roentgenography, Hollis E. Potter, 292.
I. Seth Hirsch, Editorial, 617.
Buried emanation, its use in treating malignant tumors, 325.
Tubes of radium emanation, their action on normal and neoplastic tissues, 536.
Butler, P. F., Cardiospasm, 478.

Calculi, Contrast-meal, after x-ray investigation of large intestine, Abstract, 324.
Canadian Expeditionary Force, X-Ray work in, 26.
Cancer Ameliorations and Cancer Immunity, A. F. Holding, 306.
Of the stomach, its operability as determined by the roentgen ray, R. D. Carman, Abstract, 122.
Of the uterus, late results of radium treatment, Abstract, 223.
Radium in, 42.
The roentgen ray in, 146.
Of tongue, tonsil and rectum, Treatment by buried emanation, 92.
Carcinoma cells, Biological reaction produced by radium rays, 52.
Of the Breast, Douglas Quick, 597.
Treatment of recurrences and metastases by radium and roentgen rays, 328.
Of the cervix and uterus, Radium in treatment of, 202.
Of the skin, Treatment with radium, Channing C. Simmons, Abstract, 64.
Radiation in inoperable cases in the female genito-urinary organs, 36.
Cardiospasm, P. F. Butler, 478.
Carman, R. D., Roentgenology in the Mayo Clinic, 577.
Case, James T., Death of Dr. Jaugeas, Editorial, 167.
Case of Infantile Scurvy, William Augustus Newell, 371.
Of Pedunculated Adeno-Carcinoma of the Stomach and Possible Errors in Diagnosis, Eugene P. Pendergrass and Henry K. Pancoast, 602.
Of Xanthoma Showing Multiple Bone Lesions, A. S. Merrill, 480.
Showing Value of the X-Ray in Urological Diagnosis, G. Frank Lydston, 403.
Cataracts, The technic of radium application in, 107.
Cavity formation and annular pleural shadows in pulmonary tuberculosis, Abstract, 463.
Cerebral tumors, their localization or elimination by ventriculography, Abstract, 466.
Cervix and Uterus, Radium in treatment of carcinoma of, 202.

Chronic Gastric Ulcer and Gastric Carcinoma, William Carpenter MacCarty, 591.
Cirrhosis of the liver, diagnosed by the help of x-rays, 296.
Clark, John G., Radiation in inoperable cases of carcinoma in the female genito-urinary organs, 36.
Classification of Uterine Carcinoma for the Study of the Efficacy of Radium, Henry Schmitz, 383.
Clift, M. William, Fluoroscopic examination in injuries to the head, 137.
Combination of Roentgen Rays and Radium in Uterine Carcinoma, E. H. Skinner, 376.
Congenital (Hereditary) Absence of Middle Joint of Little Finger, T. C. Bonney, 336.
Coolidge, W. D., Oil-immersed x-ray generating outfits, 181.
Coolidge x-ray tubes, their manufacture, 254.
Crane, A. W., Dr. Mills's Address, Editorial, 568.

Dachtler, H. W., Alveolar infections of dental origin as seen by the roentgenologist, 302.
Dangers, Electrical, in x-ray laboratories, 432.
In the x-ray room, Editorial, 168.
Dead bone, its recognition based on pathological and x-ray studies, Abstract, 571.
Diagnosis and Localization of Non-opaque Foreign Bodies in the Bronchi, Chevalier Jackson, William H. Spencer and Willis F. Manges, 277.
And treatment of tuberculosis of the genito-urinary tract, Abstract, 622.
By the Help of X-Rays of Cirrhosis of the Liver, A. Howard Pirie, 296.
Diaphragmatic Hernia, Alexander Stewart MacMillan, 143.
Theodore F. Riggs, Abstract, 369.
Without Severe Symptoms, A Case of, Discovered on Routine X-Ray Examinations of Chest, Horace John Howk and John A. Herring, 247.
Digestive tract, Pathological findings in 1,000 roentgen ray examinations, 234.
Disc Attachment for Victor Serial Timer, Harold B. Thompson, 459.
Discussion of Drs. Janeway's and Pfahler's articles, 333.
Of papers by Drs. Clark, Keene, Samuels and Schmitz, 57.
Diverticulitis of the colon, Value of roentgen ray in studying, 421, 505.
Dosage, x-ray, Unfiltered and filtered, 485.
Duodenal dilatation, Chronic, Abstract, 322.

Eastmond, Charles, Report of a case of osteosarcoma of the tibia, 460.
EDITORIALS:
Advantages of Group Medicine to Roentgenologists, 615.
CO_2 Instead of O_2 for Injecting the Peritoneal Cavity, Alvarez, 220.
Correspondence: Fearn, J. B., Shanghai, 363.
Hirsch, I. Seth, and Manges, W. F., 414.
Iglauer, Samuel, and Manges, W. F., 413.
Mills, R. Walter, and Ansell, P L., 318.
Dangers in the X-Ray Room, 168.
Death of Dr. F. Jaugeas, James T. Case, 167.
Dr. Mills's Address, A. W. Crane, 568.
Epigram, 569.
Harris, Herschel, Obituary Notice, 517.
Heart Symposium, Frank S. Bissell, 62.
Inter-Allied Roentgenological Club, 119.
Lee, Dr. John A., Obituary, John G. Williams, 271.
Leonard Prize for Research, 567.
Editorials—Continued
Meetings:
American Association of Military Roentgenologists, organization, 569.
American Electrotherapeutic Society, thirtieth annual meeting, 517.
American Radium Society, fifth annual meeting, 362.
Committee on Revision of the Constitution A. R. R. S., 570.
Eastern Section American Roentgen Ray Society, first annual meeting, 166.
Second annual meeting, notice of, 516.
Middle Section American Roentgen Ray Society, 219, 618.
Notice to Western Roentgenologists, 169.
Omaha Roentgen Ray Society, annual meeting, 272.
Radiological Society of North America, annual meeting, 618.
Southern Medical Association, first meeting of section in roentgenology, 516.
Organization of roentgenological section in, 118.
Twenty-first Annual Meeting American Roentgen Ray Society, First announcement, 62; Minneapolis, 310; Outline of program, 316; Further suggestions about trip, 358; Preliminary program, 360; Last call for Minneapolis, 412; Special plans for entertainment of ladies, 412; Proceedings, 513.
Western Electro-Therapeutic Association, annual meeting, 272.
Western section of the American Roentgen Ray Society, first annual meeting, 318.
Radium Research Committee Schedule, 462.
Secher, Dr. Med. K., Communication, 364.
Effect of Different Filters on Radium Radiations, Edith H. Quimby, 492.
Ejaculatory ducts, injected with thorium, X-Ray studies, 16.
Electrical Dangers in X-Ray Laboratories, J. S. Shearer, 432.
Enlarged thymus glands in infants, Radium treatment of, 191.
Epilepsy, Roentgen ray findings in, Abstract, 620.
Esophagectasis in an infant, Abstract, 522.
Examination of air craft timber by x-rays, Abstract, 321.
Of liver, gall-bladder and bile ducts, Abstract, 178.
Exophthalmic goiter, Results of surgical treatment, Abstract, 573.
Experimental Study of the Duration of Artificial Pneumo-Peritoneum, Leon T. LeWald, 502.
Extraction of intrathoracic projectiles, Abstract, 227.
Eyster, J. A. E. Instantaneous radiographs of the human heart at determined points in the cardiac circle, 471.

Face, Fractures of bones of, 350.
Feet, Bony changes in, following fracture of the vertebrae, 125.
Fibromata and uterine hemorrhages, treatment by x-rays, 544.
Films and plates for use in roentgenology, their manufacture, 131
Filtered and unfiltered x-ray dosage, 485.
Filters, Effect of different, on radium radiations, 492.
Fluoroscope, A plea for the use of, in examination of heart and great vessels, 1.
Fluoroscopic Examination in Injuries to the Head, M. William Clift, 137.

Foreign body, A traveling, 327.
Fractures of the Bones of the Face, Charles F. Bowen, 350.
Functional alterations of the diaphragm, Roentgen ray studies of, Abstract, 322.
Further Comments on Radio-Activity, Albert Soiland, 102.

Gardner, Boyd S., Roentgenology in diseases of the teeth, 587.
Gas-containing roentgen ray tubes with description of a new tube, 261.
Gastric and duodenal ulceration, Abstract, 221.
Relation to cancer, Abstract, 222.
Carcinoma, Chronic gastric ulcer and, 591.
Hypermotility associated with gall-bladder disease, Abstract, 170.
Motility, studied by test meal and barium retention, Abstract, 574.
Polyp, Unusual, 356.
Spasm and x-ray examinations, Abstract, 221.
Gastro-enterology, The relation of roentgenology to clinical medicine with reference to, 523.
Gastro-intestinal diseases, certain limitations of roentgen ray diagnosis, Abstract, 175.
George, Arial W., The value of the roentgen ray in the study of diverticulitis of the colon, 421, 505.
Glass in the Hand, A. R. Taft, 461.
Goin, Lowell S., Malignant abdominal tumor clinically cured by x-rays, 297.
Personal experience in military roentgenology over-seas, 128.
Goiter, Radium in toxic, 404.
Graduate Education in Roentgenology, Louis B. Wilson, 580.
Guinea-worm revealed by x-rays, Abstract, 276.
Gynecology, Roentgen therapy in, Abstract, 177.

Harkavy, Joseph, Influenza pneumonia from a clinical and x-ray study, 109, 148.
Head, injuries to, Fluoroscopic examination, 137.
Heart, human, Instantaneous radiographs of, 471.
Symposium, Editorial, Frank S. Bissell, 62.
The aviators', 67.
Heck, Stanton, A stereofluoroscope, 448.
Heise, F. H., The occurrence of intestinal tuberculosis in patients with pulmonary tuberculosis at the Trudeau Sanatorium, 395.
Henderson, M. S., Osteocartilaginous joint bodies, 588.
Hernia of the Diaphragm with a Portion of the Stomach in the Thoracic Cavity, Webster W. Belden, 250.
Congenital diaphragmatic, Abstract, 469.
Diaphragmatic, 143.
True congenital, in the right diaphragm, 289.
Herring, John A., A case of diaphragmatic hernia without severe symptoms discovered on routine x-ray examination of chest, 247.
Heublein Arthur C., Radium treatment of enlarged thymus glands in infants, 191.
Hirsch, I. Seth, Bucky diaphragm, Editorial, 617.
Hodges, Paul C., A stereoscopic tube stand particularly adapted for the examination of the skull, 564.
Hodgson, Millard B., The manufacture of films and plates for use in roentgenology, 131.
Holding, A. F., Cancer ameliorations and cancer immunity, 306.
Holmes, George W., The radiographic findings in pericarditis with effusion, 7.
Howk, Horace John, A case of diaphragmatic hernia without severe symptoms discovered on routine x-ray examination of chest, 247.
Hubeny, Maximilian John, Roentgen diagnosis of patent ductus arteriosus with report of a case complicated by presence of saccular aneurysm, 23.
Hydatid cyst of the lung, Abstract, 574.
Hypertrophic osteo-arthropathy, with metastatic sarcoma of the lung, 286.

Infantile scurvy, A case of, 371.
Influenza Pneumonia from a Clinical and X-Ray Study, Joseph Harkavy and John Hunter Selby, 109, 148.
Injecting peritoneal cavity with CO_2 instead of O_2, Alvarez, Editorial, 220.
Injuries to the atlas and axis, A method for more accurate study, Abstract, 319.
Instantaneous Radiographs of the Human Heart at Determined Points in the Cardiac Circle, J. A. E. Eyster and Walter J. Meek, 471.
Intensifying screens, A new method of mounting, 446.
Tests of x-ray, 196.
Intestinal tuberculosis combined with pulmonary tuberculosis at the Trudeau Sanatorium, 395.
Intoxicaciones por el subnitrato de bismuto, Abstract, 227.
Iodid and bromid pastes as used in roentgenography, Abstract, 174.

Jackson, Chevalier, The diagnosis and localization of non-opaque foreign bodies in the bronchi, 277.
Janeway, Henry H., The treatment of cancer, particularly of the tongue, tonsil and rectum, by buried emanation, 92.
The use of buried emanation in the treatment of malignant tumors, 325.
Jaugeas, Dr. F., Death of, Editorial, 167.
Jewett, E. Harvey, Teleroentgenology of the sella turcica with observations on 100 normal cases, 352.

Keene, Floyd E., Radiation in inoperable cases of cancer in the female genito-urinary organs, 36.
Keith, D. Y., A true congenital hernia in the right diaphragm, 289.
Koenig, E. C., A traveling foreign body, 327.

Legg's disease, four cases, 347.
Leonard, Ralph D., The value of the roentgen ray in the study of diverticulitis of the colon, 421, 505.
Lethal and Erythema Dosage of Radium in Malignancy, Russell H. Boggs, 398.
Dose of roentgen rays for cancer cells, Abstract, 170.
Leukemia, Notes on the roentgen treatment of, 608.
Levin, Isaac, Rationale of radium therapy in cancer, 552.
The technic of radium application in cataracts, 107.
LeWald, Leon T., The aviators' heart. Roentgen rays under conditions simulating high altitudes, 67.
An experimental study of the duration of artificial pneumo-peritoneum, 502.
Liability of roentgenologist, Medico-legal, Abstract, 572.
Liver, gall-bladder and bile ducts, Examination of, Abstract, 178.
Lydston, G. Frank, Case showing value of the x-ray in urological diagnosis, 403.

MacCarty, William Carpenter, Chronic gastric ulcer and gastric carcinoma, 591.
MacMillan, Alexander Stewart, Diaphragmatic hernia, 143.
McCarty, E. D., X-Ray studies in gout, 451.
Malignant Abdominal Tumor Clinically Cured by X-Ray, Lowell S. Goin, 297.
Disease successfully treated by roentgen therapy, 231.
Within the abdomen, Roentgenotherapy in, 210.
Tumors of the thymus gland treated by radium, Abstract, 419.
Use of buried emanation in treatment of, 325.
Manges, Willis F., The diagnosis and localization of non-opaque foreign bodies in the bronchi, 277.
Manufacture of Films and Plates for Use in Roentgenology, Millard B. Hodgson, 131.
Of the Coolidge X-Ray Tubes, R. C. Robinson and C. N. Moore, 254.
Matas, Rudolph, Radium therapy, 440.
Mayo, Charles H. Address of Welcome, 576.
Mayo Clinic, Roentgenology in, 577.
Mayo, William J., Address of Welcome, 575.
Medico-Legal: Circumstantial authentication of roentgenogram when lost, Abstract, 619.
Liability of roentgenologist, 572.
Meek, Walter J., Instantaneous radiographs of the human heart at determined points in the cardiac circle, 471.
Menorrhagia, Radium treatment in 600 cases, 379.
And metrorrhagia, radium used in treatment of, Abstract, 518.
Merrill, A. S., Case of xanthoma showing multiple bone lesions, 480.
Metabolism in leukemia and cancer during radium treatment, Abstract, 321.
Of cancer patients, Effect of roentgen rays on, Abstract, 520.
Military roentgenology overseas, 128.
Mills, Walter R., The relation of roentgenology to clinical medicine with special reference to gastro-enterology, 523.
Minneapolis, 310.
Model x-ray laboratory, Plan of, 298.
Moore, C. N., Manufacture of the Coolidge x-ray tubes, 254.
Morgan, J. D., Plan of a building for a model x-ray laboratory, 298.
Morrison, Robert T., A new method of mounting intensifying screens, 446.
Mounting intensifying screens, A new method, 446.
Multiple bone lesions, Case of xanthoma showing, 480.
Mutscheller, A., A study of gas-containing roentgen ray tubes and a description of a new tube, 261.

Newcomet, William S., Treatment of angiomata with radium, 337.
Newell, William Augustus, A case of infantile scurvy, 371.
New Method, A, of Mounting Intensifying Screens, Robert T. Morrison, 446.
Non-malignant tumor of the lungs, Abstract, 323.
Non-opaque foreign bodies in the bronchi, their diagnosis and localization, 277.
Notes on the Roentgen Treatment of Leukemia, With Report of a Case Under Treatment for Four Years, W. O. Upson, 608.

Occurrence of Intestinal Tuberculosis in Patients with Pulmonary Tuberculosis at the Trudeau Sanatorium, Lawrason Brown, Homer L. Sampson and F. H. Heise, 395.
Oil-Immersed X-Ray Generating Outfits, W. D. Coolidge, 181.
Osteitis Fibrosa, E. G. Slesinger, Abstract, 65.
Osteocartilaginous Joint Bodies, M. S. Henderson, 588.
Osteochondral Trophopathy of the Hip-Joint. Legg's Disease. Report of Four Cases, W. E. Reiley, 347.
Osteomyelitis and its classification radiographically, Abstract, 322.
Osteosarcoma of the tibia, Report of a case, 460.
Some difficulties in the diagnosis of, Abstract, 618.

Pancoast, Henry K., A case of pedunculated adenocarcinoma of the stomach and possible errors in diagnosis, 602.
The roentgen ray in cancer of the uterus, 146.
Panneton, J. E., The x-rays in the treatment of fibromata and uterine hemorrhages, 514.
Patent ductus arteriosus with saccular aneurysm, 23.
Pathological Findings in 1,000 Roentgen Ray Examinations of the Digestive Tract, W. Warner Watkins, 234.
Pedunculated adeno-carcinoma of the stomach, 602.
Pendergrass, Eugene P., A case of pedunculated adeno-carcinoma of the stomach and possible errors in diagnosis, 602.
Pericarditis with effusion, Radiographic findings in, 7.
Perinephritic abscess, A roentgen ray sign of, Abstract, 174.
Peritoneal tuberculosis, latent, X-Ray diagnosis, Abstract, 221.
Personal Experience in Military Roentgenology Over-Seas, Lowell S. Goin, 128.
Pfahler, George E., Roentgenotherapy in malignant disease within the abdomen, with reports upon thirteen cases, 210.
Spring clip for holding x-ray films on the illumination box, 614.
Treatment of recurrences and metastases from carcinoma of the breast by means of radium and roentgen rays, 328.
Pharyngo-esophageal diverticula, or pulsion diverticula of Zeuker, Abstract, 470.
Pirie, A. Howard, Diagnosis by the help of x-rays of cirrhosis of the liver, 206.
Plan of a Building for a Model X-Ray Laboratory, J. D. Morgan, 298.
Plea for the Use of the Fluoroscope in the Examination of the Heart and Great Vessels, James G. Van Zwaluwenburg, 1.
Pneumo-peritoneum, duration of artificial, 502.
In x-ray diagnosis, B. H. Orndorff. Abstract, 173.
Potter, Hollis E., The Bucky diaphragm principle applied to roentgenography, 292.
Pre-Operative and Postoperative X-Ray in Carcinoma of the Breast, Douglas Quick, 597.
Prize, Leonard, for Research, Editorial, 567.
Pruritis ani, Treatment by x-ray radiation, 116.
Pulmonary tuberculosis, Roentgenological determination of, Abstract, 273.

Quick, Douglas, Pre-operative and post-operative x-ray in carcinoma of the breast, 597.
Quimby, A. Judson, Useful attachment to a Bowen developing tank, 345.
Quimby, Edith H., Effect of different filters on radium radiations, 492.

Radiation in Inoperable Cases of Carcinoma in the Female Genito-Urinary Organs, John G. Clark and Floyd E. Keene, 36.
Radio-Activity, Further comments on, 102.

Radiographic Findings in Pericarditis with Effusion, George W. Holmes, 7.
Radiographs direct on bromide paper and their place in war economy, Abstract, 121.
Instantaneous, of the human heart, 471.
Radiotherapy in surgical tuberculosis of children, Abstract, 275.
In Sweden, Abstract, 619.
Its present status, Abstract, 171.
Of the malarial spleen, Abstract, 622.
Of Uterine Fibromyomata. Results, Modeof Action and Indications, Based on the Study of 400 Personal Observations, A. Béclère, 30.
Radium application in cataracts, 107.
Eighteen months' experience with, Abstract, 173.
Element versus Emanation, Albert Soiland, 612.
Emanation, Action of buried tubes on normal and neoplastic tissue, 536.
In malignancy, Lethal and erythema dosage, 398.
In the Treatment of Carcinoma of the Cervix and Uterus, Russell H. Boggs, 202.
In the treatment of tuberculous adenitis, Abstract, 124.
In Toxic Goiter, W. H. B. Aikins, 404.
Radiations, Effect of different filters on, 492.
Therapy, Rudolph Matas, 440.
Therapy, Abstract, 177.
In cancer, its rationale, 552.
In gynecology, Abstract, 177.
Its efficacy in different classes of uterine carcinoma, 383.
Technique of, in gynecology, 52.
Topical applications of, 582.
Treatment in 600 Cases of Menorrhagia, Leda J. Stacy, 379.
Of cancer of the uterus, Late results, Abstract, 223.
Of Enlarged Thymus Glands in Infants, Arthur C. Heublein, 191.
Use of, in treatment of metrorrhagia and menorrhagia, Abstract, 518.
Rationale of Radiumtherapy in Cancer, Isaac Levin, 552.
Recognition of dead bone based on pathological and x-ray studies, Abstract, 571.
Reiley, W. E., Osteochondral trophopathy of the hip-joint, Legg's Disease, 347.
Relation of Roentgenology to Clinical Medicine with Special Reference to Gastro-Enterology, R. Walter Mills, 523.
Remer, John, Unfiltered and filtered x-ray dosage, 485.
Renal fluoroscopy at the operating table, Abstract, 369.
Report of a Case of Osteo-Sarcoma of the Tibia, Charles Eastmond, 460.
A Case of Thyroid Metabolism, C. W. Schwartz, 229.
Four Cases of Malignant Disease Successfully Treated by Roentgen Therapy, A. F. Tyler, 231.
Some Interesting Thoracic Aneurysms, A. Robert Taft, 90.
Robinson, R. C., Manufacture of the Coolidge x-ray tubes, 254.
Roentgen Diagnosis of Patent Ductus Arteriosus with Report of a Case Complicated by Presence of Saccular Aneurysm, Maximilian John Hubeny, 23.
Of subphrenic abscess, Abstract, 465.
Examination of the Urinary Tract Made Opaque, W. F. Braasch, 584.
Roentgenological determination of pulmonary tuberculosis, Abstract, 273.
Roentgenology and clinical medicine, their relation, 523.
And medical practice, their anomalous relation, 531.
In Diseases of the Teeth, Boyd S. Gardner, 587.
In the Mayo Clinic, R. D. Carman, 577.
Roentgen Ray in Cancer of the Uterus, Henry K. Pancoast, 146.
Treatment of widespread and generalized diseases of the skin, Abstract, 521.
Therapeutist, A word to the, 357.
Roentgenotherapy in Malignant Disease within the Abdomen with Reports upon Thirteen Cases, George E. Pfahler, 210.
Roentgen therapy in treatment of malignant disease, 231.
Ruggles, Howard E., Unusual gastric polyp, 356.

Saccular aneurysm in patent ductus arteriosus, 23.
Sampson, Homer L., The occurrence of intestinal tuberculosis in patients with pulmonary tuberculosis at the Trudeau Sanatorium, 395.
Samuels, Ernest Charles, Three years' experience with radium in cancer of the uterus, 42.
Scaphoid, Fracture without displacement, Abstract, 324.
Schmitz, Henry, The biological reaction of carcinoma cells produced by radium rays. The technique of radium therapy in gynecology, 52.
The classification of uterine carcinoma for the study of the efficacy of radium therapy, 383.
Schwartz, C. W., Report of a case of thyroid metabolism, 229.
Secondary Hypertrophic Osteo-Arthropathy with Metastatic Sarcoma of the Lung, Lloyd Bryan, 286.
Selby, John Hunter, Influenza pneumonia, from a clinical and x-ray study, 109, 148.
Sella turcica, Teleroentgenology of, 352.
Seminal vesicles and vasa deferentia after injection of ejaculatory ducts with thorium, 16.
Shearer, J. S., Electrical dangers in x-ray laboratories, 432.
Simpson, C. Augustus, A word to the roentgen therapeutist, 357.
Skin diseases, widespread and generalized, Roentgen ray treatment, Abstract, 521.
Skinner, Edward H., The combination of roentgen rays and radium in uterine carcinoma, 376.
Small doses of x-rays, Experimental studies with, Abstract, 120.
Soiland, Albert, Further comments on radio-activity, 102.
Radium element versus emanation, 612.
Spencer, William H., The diagnosis and localization of non-opaque foreign bodies in the bronchi, 277.
Spleen, malarial, Radiotherapy of, Abstract, 622.
Spring Clip for Holding X-Ray Films on the Illumination Box, George E. Pfahler, 614.
Splenic calculi, Abstract, 123.
Stacy, Leda J., Radium treatment in 600 cases of menorrhagia, 379.
Radium Research Committee Schedule, Editorial, 462.
Stereofluoroscope, A, Stanton Heck, 448.
Stereoscopic Tube Stand Particularly Adapted for the Examination of the Skull, Paul C. Hodges, 564.

Study of Gas-Containing Roentgen Ray Tubes and a Description of a New Tube, A. Mutscheller, 261.
Subphrenic abscess, Roentgen diagnosis of, Abstract, 465.
Syphilis, A pathological study of the lungs in 152 cases, Abstract, 416.
Of the great vessels, Abstract, 176.
Of the stomach, Abstract, 620.

Taft, A. Robert, Glass in the hand, 461.
Report of some interesting thoracic aneurysms, 90.
Technic of Radium Application in Cataracts, Isaac Levin, 107.
Teleroentgen method of determining size of soldiers' hearts, Abstract, 368.
Teleroentgenology of the Sella Turcica with Observations on 100 Normal Cases, E. Harvey Jewett, 352.
Tests of X-Ray Intensifying Screens, R. B. Wilsey, 196.
Thompson, Harold B., Disc attachment for Victor serial timer, 459.
Thoracic aneurysms, Report of some interesting, 90.
Three Years' Experience with Radium in Cancer of the Uterus, Ernest Charles Samuels, 42.
Thymus gland, malignant tumors of, treated by radium, 419.
Glands, enlarged, in infants, 191.
Thyroid and thymus glands, surgery of, Abstract, 221.
Metabolism, 229.
Topical Applications of Radium, H. H. Bowing, 582.
Traveling Foreign Body, E. C. Koenig, 327.
Treatment of Angiomata with Radium, William S. Newcomet, 337.
Of Cancer, Particularly of the Tongue, Tonsil and Rectum, by Buried Emanation, Henry H. Janeway, 92.
Of malignant tumors of the thymus gland by radium, Abstract, 419.
Of Pruritis Ani by X-Ray Radiation, William J. Young, 116.
Of Recurrences and Metastases from Carcinoma of the Breast by Means of Radium and Roentgen Rays, George E. Pfahler, 328.
True Congenital Hernia in the Right Diaphragm, D. Y. Keith, 289.
Tuberculosis of the genito-urinary tract, Diagnosis and treatment, Abstract, 622.
Surgical, of children, Radiotherapy in, Abstract, 275.
Tuberculous adenitis, Radium in the treatment of, Abstract, 124.
Tube stand, stereoscopic, for skull work, 564.
Turrell, Guy H., The aviators' heart. Roentgen rays under conditions simulating high altitudes, 67.
Twenty-first Annual Meeting, Address of Welcome, William J. Mayo, 575, Charles Mayo, 576.
Twenty-first Annual Meeting (see under "Editorial")
Tyler, A. F., Report of four cases of malignant disease successfully treated by roentgen therapy, 231.

Unfiltered and Filtered X-Ray Dosage, William D. Witherbee and John Remer, 485.
Unusual Gastric Polyp, Howard E. Ruggles, 356.
Upson, W. O., Notes on the roentgen treatment of leukemia, 608.
Urethroscopic injection of ejaculatory ducts with thorium, 16.
Urinary tract made opaque, Roentgen examination of, 584.
Urological diagnosis, Value of x-ray in, 403.
Useful Attachment to a Bowen Developing Tank, A. Judson Quimby, 345.
Use of Buried Emanation in the Treatment of Malignant Tumors, Henry H. Janeway, 325.
Uterine cancer, Three years' experience with radium in, 42.
Carcinoma, classified as to efficacy of radium therapy, 383.
Combination of roentgen rays and radium, 376.
Fibromyomata, The radiotherapy of, 30.

Value of the Roentgen Ray in the Study of Diverticulitis of the Colon. Arial W. George and Ralph D. Leonard, 421, 505.
Van Zwaluwenburg, James G., A plea for the use of the fluoroscope in the examination of the heart and great vessels, 1.
Ventriculography in localizing or eliminating cerebral tumors, Abstract, 466.
Vertebral fracture causing bony changes in feet, 125.
Victor serial timer, Disc attachment for, 459.

Waters, Charles A., X-Ray studies of the seminal vesicles and vasa deferentia after urethroscopic injection of the ejaculatory ducts with thorium, 16.
Watkins, W. Warner, The anomalous relation of roentgenology to medical practice, 531.
Wilsey, R. B., Tests of x-ray intensifying screens, 196.
Wilson, Louis B., Graduate education in roentgenology, 580.
Wilson, Robert, X-Ray work in the Canadian Expeditionary Force, 26.
Witherbee, William D., Unfiltered and filtered x-ray dosage, 485.
Word, A, to the Roentgen Therapeutist, C. Augustus Simpson, 357.

Xanthoma, Case of, showing multiple bone lesions, 480.
X-Ray (Poem), Helen Ashbury, 484.
Examination of chest, routine, disclosing diaphragmatic hernia, 247.
Generating outfits. Oil-immersed, 181.
Pre-operative and postoperative in carcinoma of the breast, 597.
Studies in Gout, E. D. McCarty, 451.
Of the Seminal Vesicles and Vasa Deferentia after Urethroscopic Injection of the Ejaculatory Ducts with Thorium; A New Diagnostic Method, Hugh J. Young and Charles A. Waters, 16.
Work in the Canadian Expeditionary Force, Robert Wilson, 26.
X-Rays in the Treatment of Fibromata and Uterine Hemorrhages, J. E. Panneton, 544.

Young, Hugh H., X-Ray studies of the seminal vesicles and vasa deferentia after urethroscopic injection of the ejaculatory ducts with thorium, 16.
Young, William J., Treatment of pruritis ani by x-ray radiation, 116.

PAUL B. HOEBER, 67-69 East 59th Street, New York